

The diagram illustrates the coding process for three different input sequences. The top two rows show a sequence of operations (represented by colored blocks) leading to a final output. The bottom row shows a different sequence of operations leading to a different output. The diagram is divided into three sections: 'Coding', 'Decoding', and 'Encoding'.

